The Origin of Gamcheon Culture Village

▲ Gamcheon 2-dong Doryebong Sanbalsi Mountain Slope

The Origin of Gamcheon

The old name for Gamcheon (甘川) is Gamseon (甘山). The letter Gam (甘) is derived from 'Gan' which means 'Sweet'. The letter Seon (山) is another Chinese character for 'mountain'. There is another story that the place was called Gamcheon because of its outstanding quality of water. The letter 'P' (Pine) was used in the name and the place was called Gamseon (甘山) or Gamseon (甘山). It was called Danyeri (多内里), the villages in 多内里.

Bandal Hill, located between Mt. Cheonmasan and Mt. Ami, was a flourishing route connecting Gamcheon-dong and Ami-dong. The road on the hill also connects Gamcheon 2-dong and the west part of Ami-dong.

The Features of Gamcheon

Gamcheon-dong, which has the suffering history since the Korean War, preserves the cultural traces of Korean nation. Consists of the background of the Korean War and the territorial features, the hillside roads have significant cultural value. The Gamcheon-dong's neighborhood were built in the order of unique stairs-shape from Doryebong to the foot of Mt. cheonma-san Stand. The virtue of building house can be sensed in Gamcheon-dong as each house is built not to block the front view of the house behind. To a modern city people, it can be a place to reminisce about past memories. Gamcheon-dong is a beautiful village where the residents live closely with and care for one another preserving the cultural tradition and archetypes of our people.
